I. INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND:

A. PROBLEM STATEMENT

Special populations and diverse communities may be unintentionally overlooked in the development and dissemination of universal substance use/misuse prevention programming therefore widening the existing health disparities. Effective prevention must be culturally responsive and respectful of diversity to address the specific risk factors influencing the affected community and this is principally true when developing prevention messages for underserved, vulnerable communities, and special populations.

Culturally responsive prevention includes the thoughtful consideration of the unique aspects of beliefs, norms, and expectations that shape our behaviors and identities. SAMHSA defines culture as a conceptual system developed by a community that structures the way people view the world.¹ The concepts of culture include beliefs, social norms, and values that influence relationships, how people live their lives, and how people organize their world. The term culture can be used to describe groups formed through different descriptors such as socioeconomic status, generational culture, sexual orientation, Black Indigenous or People of Color (BIPOC), military status, people with disabilities, recovery status, common interests such as skateboarders or online competitive video gamers culture, or location such as rural, urban, or suburban. People belong to multiple cultural groups and negotiate multiple cultural expectations every day. For example, rural LGBTQ youth or veterans in recovery may have uniquely complex risk factors that influence their perspectives and present challenges to achieving optimal health.²

The risks of substance use and misuse and their inexorable consequences can differ for underserved communities and risks are influenced by descriptors that define cultural identity, such as gender, race, ethnicity, sexual orientation, age, and others. Apart from tobacco use, most underserved populations have lower rates of substance use as compared to the general population. However, the impact of substance use or misuse is more severe in underserved communities with higher rates of incarceration, job loss, morbidity, and mortality which serve to only widen gaps in health equity.³ Within the general population, binge drinking among 12- to 17-year-olds can result in immediate consequences such as alcohol poisoning, motor vehicle crashes, and violent acts, and for vulnerable communities the after-effects and the stigma of substance use and misuse can be further isolating. Adverse health outcomes among at-risk youth in underserved and vulnerable communities include an increased chance of developing a substance use disorder (SUD) and have profound health equity costs for the future.^{4,5} Designing effective culturally responsive and inclusive prevention services to reduce risk or delay the onset of substance use, misuse, and problem gambling behaviors is vital for reaching members of traditionally underserved communities across the life span. Fostering community connections to reduce isolation, enhance prosocial opportunities, and build positive community identity can have a lasting affirmative influence to reduce health disparities. For more information on Behavioral Health Disparities please visit SAMHSA's website at <http://www.samhsa.gov/grants/grants-management/disparity-impact-statement>

At the community level, successful prevention of alcohol, cannabis, and other substance misuse or overuse requires a mixed method approach of evidence-based prevention strategies that rely on local data sources and community input to produce culturally responsive prevention messages. NYS OASAS recognizes the value of community-based prevention and prevention-focused coalitions that use local data to create tailored culturally competent efforts such as Environmental Change Strategies as cost-effective means to reduce or delay substance use/misuse. Environmental Change Strategies developed using SAMHSA's Strategic Prevention Framework (SPF) employ a multi-pronged approach that combines policy change, enforcement awareness, and media to promote positive health behaviors and to increase awareness of the negative consequences associated with substance use/misuse. Efforts such as state-wide seat belt laws, bike helmet laws, and smoke-free campus initiatives are excellent examples of large- and small-scale Environmental Change Strategies that boost positive behavior change to reduce negative health outcomes.

Please review the Environmental Change Strategy recorded training on OASAS website for definitions and examples of the three components of Environmental change strategies: <https://oasas.ny.gov/applying-comprehensive-environmental-strategy-approach>.

To address gaps in health equity, OASAS proposes to fund substance use/misuse prevention-focused coalitions to engage vulnerable and isolated communities who are connected by cultural identity in developing and implementing environmental change prevention strategies in these communities.

A community coalition is defined as a group of stakeholders who represent diverse organizations, constituencies, and community members who agree to work together to achieve a common goal to reduce substance use/misuse, and problem gambling behaviors. More than any other entity, community coalitions are poised to connect the 12 sectors of businesses, parents, media, law enforcement, schools, faith organizations, health providers, prevention providers, addictions treatment, mental health, social service agencies, and government for a wide-ranging representation of a community. Acting in concert, coalition partners gain a more complete understanding of the community's concerns and together they identify opportunities to implement evidence-based prevention solutions. The result is a comprehensive, community wide approach that makes efficient use of limited community resources to achieve measurable cross-systems outcomes in reduced and delayed substance use/misuse and problem gambling behaviors.

Coalitions funded will use the Strategic Prevention Framework \(SPF\) to develop culturally appropriate and tailored prevention for underserved communities such as veterans, LGBTQ youth, Latinx, people over the age of 50 years, people with disabilities, low socio-economic rural communities, migrant communities, and others. By using local data sources that can identify culturally specific substance use/misuse issues, a community can foster population-specific prevention strategies to reduce and delay underage substance use/misuse and instill lasting positive changes for their high-risk communities.

The Strategic Prevention Framework steps are designed to help prevention planners and communities build the necessary infrastructure for effective, responsive, and sustainable prevention.

The SPF has five steps and two guiding principles:

1. Assessment: Identify local prevention needs based on data (i.e., What is the problem?)
2. Capacity: Build local resources and readiness to address prevention needs (i.e., What do you have to work with?)
3. Planning: Find out what works to address prevention needs and how to do it well (i.e., What should you do and how should you do it?)
4. Implementation: Deliver evidence-based programs and practices as intended (i.e., How can you put your plan into action?)
5. Evaluation: Examine the process and outcomes of programs and practices (i.e., Is your plan succeeding?)

The SPF is also guided by two cross-cutting principles that should be integrated into each of the steps.

Cultural competence: The ability of an individual or organization to understand and interact effectively with people who have different values, lifestyles, and traditions based on their distinctive heritage and social relationships.

Sustainability: The process of building an adaptive and effective system that achieves and maintains the desired long-term results.

For a detailed description on implementation of the SPF steps and its guiding principles, please visit: <https://www.samhsa.gov/resource/ebp/strategic-prevention-framework>
Applying the SPF model, applicants will use the results of a local needs assessment to address the risk and or protective factors within the community of focus and identify an environmental strategy to address them.

B. FUNDING AVAILABLE

- Up to $1.8 million is available to support a substance use /misuse prevention-focused community coalition to implement environmental strategies to reduce underage and binge alcohol and/or heavy cannabis use.
- An award of up to $150,000 annually will be made in each of the counties of Queens, Kings, Bronx and Richmond for a total funding of up to $450,000 per coalition. Actual funding for years 2 and 3 will be contingent on program implementation and milestone completion by the coalition.

C. SCOPE OF SERVICES

The Strategic Prevention Framework (SPF) must serve as the planning model for community coalitions responding to this RFP. Successful Applicants will use the 5-step SPF process to describe the data-driven decision-making process used to develop their plan while infusing the guiding principles of cultural responsiveness and sustainability. The application must demonstrate collaboration with local resources to develop culturally responsive and sustainable environmental prevention strategies targeting vulnerable communities.

1. Selected coalitions must address substance use and misuse among health disparate, vulnerable, or underserved culturally connected individuals and communities in New York State.
2. Using data, grantees are required to demonstrate high need for culturally appropriate prevention efforts in the selected community. Selected Applicants will be required to collect both survey and archival data that demonstrate need in the selected community and use a logic model to align need with responsive strategies and outcomes.
3. Selected Applicants must demonstrate their coalition has high capacity to engage the selected health disparate, vulnerable, or underserved community and to engage key stakeholders to plan and implement sustainable evidence-based environmental prevention strategies.
4. Selected Applicants will be required to hire a full-time coalition coordinator who represents or has strong connections to the underserved community. Additionally, the 12 sectors of the coalition membership should be representative or serve the intended vulnerable health disparate community.
5. Selected Applicants must demonstrate established partnerships with agencies and organizations who are experienced in addressing the health disparities within the intended community to ensure community buy in, maximize resources, and develop a plan for sustainability.
6. Selected Applicants are required to hire a part time data coordinator to oversee the needs assessment, and process and outcomes evaluation which will include both survey and archival data that assess changes in consumption, consequence, and risk/protective factors.

7. Selected Applicants will be required to submit reports of process and outcome data as instructed by OASAS.

D. EXECUTIVE ORDER 16 REQUIREMENTS

In accordance with Executive Order No. 16, State Entities are directed to refrain from entering into any new contract or renewing any existing contract with an entity conducting business operations in Russia. On March 24, 2022, the United States, in coordination with the European Union and the Group of Seven (G-7), imposed sanctions on an additional 400 Russian individuals and entities. The federal sanctions include efforts to block moves by Russian entities and individuals to evade the sanctions imposed or to use international reserves. While the federal sanctions seek to target specific entities and individuals within Russia, Executive Order No. 16 is intended to ensure that New York State is not entering into contracts with entities conducting business in Russia and thereby indirectly supporting Russia's unjustified war against the Ukrainian people.

In order to comply with Executive Order No. 16, State Entities must obtain a certification from applicants as part of a solicitation for a new contract or extension of an existing contract. Such Applicant certification shall be made utilizing Attachment C.

E. COMPLIANCE REQUIREMENTS

All activities performed with funds from this solicitation must be carried out in a manner that complies with all applicable federal and New York State laws and regulations.

F. REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

Applicants will be required to provide monthly implementation status reports and service delivery statistics once program is operational. OASAS may add additional reporting based on SAMHSA and OASAS needs for information.

G. PAYMENT PROCESS

1. Advance Payment and Recoupment Language:

- a. The State agency will make one advance payment to the Contractor, in the amount of twenty-five percent (25%), for each program of the budget as set forth in the most recently approved applicable Attachment B form (Budget) within thirty (30) days of State Agency approval of the initial contract or any amendment thereafter.
- b. Recoupment of any advance payment shall be recovered by crediting subsequent reimbursement claims until the advance is fully recovered within the contract period.
- c. If upon completion or termination of this Master Contract, all advance payments have not been fully liquidated, the balance of such payments shall be paid by the Contractor to the State upon demand.

2. Interim and/or Final Claims for Reimbursement:

Claims for reimbursement may not be submitted more often than monthly for allowable costs. All invoices shall be submitted using the form identified by the State Agency and submitted to COVIDFundsVOUCHERS@oasas.ny.gov.

The purpose of the Program Narrative is to demonstrate an understanding of the objectives and the services to be provided, how the coalitions' objectives will be operationalized and evaluated, and responsiveness of proposed activities to the goal of the initiative. Some of the prompts in the narrative section below contain slightly different questions for established versus new coalitions.

The Proposal Narrative should be typed, double-spaced, single sided on 8 ½ x 11 inch paper. Please limit this section to twenty pages, including any charts and attachments. Pages should be paginated, and font should be 12-point Times New Roman, and all margins should be .5 inch wide. The Proposal Narrative should address all the following sections, in order:

Needs Assessment:

1. Explain why this community is considered a higher risk population for developing substance use and misuse problem behaviors. Describe the identified vulnerable community using National, NYS, and/or community-level quantitative, archival, and/or qualitative data. Data must be from the past 5 years.
2. Explain risk/protective factors, consumption patterns, and negative consequences associated with substance misuse or use
3. Explain how data will be used for planning purposes.

Facilitation of a Healthy Coalition:

For established coalitions:

1. Include a list of activities that the coalition is currently working on in the intended community including implementation of substance use prevention strategies.
2. Describe currently active coalition membership in terms of meeting the 12 sectors and their representation of and ties to the vulnerable community identified above. Include letters of support from at least 3 organizations (CBOs, non-profits, volunteer organizations, etc.) that work predominantly with the intended community in the attachments.
3. Describe the coalition's decision-making process regarding which activities to undertake. Include any formal documentation (if available and include on documents the date last revised) such as: Mission statement; By laws; Written member roles; Written executive board roles; Written agreement with fiscal agent.
4. Describe an active ongoing evaluation plan that assesses gaps in coalition membership to ensure appropriate representation from the underserved populations' stakeholders.

For new coalitions:

1. Describe the agency that is going to host the coalition and its past and present activities engaging with the intended community. Describe experience implementing substance use prevention strategies.
2. Explain current relationships and processes proposed to recruit members from the 12 sectors. Provide letters of support from at least 5 agencies that work predominantly with the intended community in the attachments.
3. Describe the approach the new coalition will take to build an empowering decision-making process regarding future coalition activities. What are the rules of bylaws that this new coalition will use to come to consensus and determine workflow?
4. Describe how you plan on evaluating your coalition membership to ensure appropriate representation from underserved populations' stakeholders.

Capacity to Engage:

1. Describe knowledge of and/or experience in adhering to SAMHSA's SPF.
2. Provide an example of a comprehensive substance use prevention environmental strategy including all coordinating components – media, enforcement, and policy.
3. For established coalitions: Describe current coalition strengths demonstrated through past initiatives.

For new coalitions: Describe current resources that you have available to leverage to build a successful coalition.

4. Describe challenges anticipated to building capacity and working with the identified vulnerable community, and how they can be possibly overcome.
5. Describe your knowledge of or your coalitions' experience working with an OASAS funded Prevention Resource Center, and its readiness to engage actively in their training and technical assistance that they offer.

Cultural Considerations:

1. Describe how you will ensure that the strategies being implemented remain culturally responsive and align with community needs.
2. Describe an example or two of what culturally responsive outreach or material looks like for the population you wish to serve.

Evaluation:

1. For established coalitions: Describe how the coalition is currently evaluating its strategies. Explain the coalitions current capacity to collect, analyze and report data as well as its ability to conduct process and outcome evaluation.

For new coalitions: Describe a potential plan to build the capacity to evaluate and/or resources that can be leveraged to meet process and outcome evaluation and reporting requirements.

Staffing Plan:

1. Provide a Staffing Plan that includes job titles, job descriptions, relevant experience required, professional credentials, and general responsibilities. At a minimum, the Staffing Plan should include:
 - a. A Coalition Coordinator. Responsible for the general day to day activities and organization of the coalition and its work on this initiative's objectives. The coordinator will be responsible for assessment, capacity building, planning, implementing, and evaluating activities associated with the priorities. The coordinator will guide the coalition to develop and implement strategies that will lead to long-term involvement of community institutions, organizations, and individuals in substance use prevention. The community coalition coordinator will also be responsible for ensuring that the necessary reporting requirements are completed and submitted.
 - b. A Data Analyst (part-time). Responsible for needs assessment and evaluation. The analyst will need to demonstrate proficiencies in the evaluation of environmental prevention strategies and measuring the processes and outcomes associated. They will ensure that all evaluative activities are culturally sensitive and will aim to bridge any age, gender, cultural, racial, or institutional barriers using appropriate communications and methodologies.
2. Describe how new staff will be recruited and trained to meet the positions' requirements.

2. Explain of how the funding will be used to expand or enhance current efforts. Funds cannot be used to duplicate or supplant existing funding that the coalition receives. The financial resources narrative must justify the proposed expenses and clearly describe any funding that will be braided with other funding (e.g., Drug Free Communities).
